

EPILOGUE

For me, it's all about the students!

It has been said, "A teacher is not a teacher without students."

When I volunteered to teach, again, I was a teacher once again!

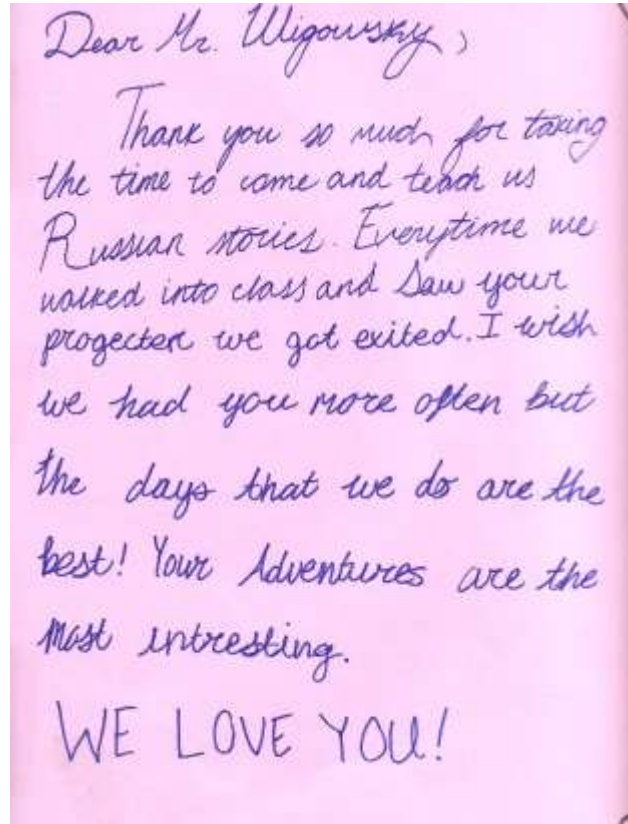

As a farewell gift after my first year of volunteering, many students wished to send me cards and letters as a big thank you for telling them stories.

What a surprise it was for me to receive a package with letters and notes from Holy Trinity Private School. Some were written in Russian, and some in English. I read each one! And I want to thank the teachers who took time to help the students write those letters and notes.

It was a joy for me to hear sincere loving words from the students, and their remarks about the Русские Народные Сказки. Some even mentioned their favorite story. I loved that.

My experience at the school was beyond words -- it was a true spiritual experience, a time of interacting with students whose purpose in life (at the school) was to learn about God and keep their Russian language (and Church Slavonic) as part of their life. I was honored to be put in a role of helping with the Russian language.

I want to continue to help the students with both languages (Russian/English), and therefore I share the webpage that I created to help them read the stories in both languages: HTTPS – "Resident Storyteller" <https://wigowsky.com/fob/HTPS.htm>

Thank you for taking time out of your day to tell us interesting stories. I always enjoy them!

Thank you to all the students for your kind words. It has been my pleasure to be of service in your school as a volunteer teacher.

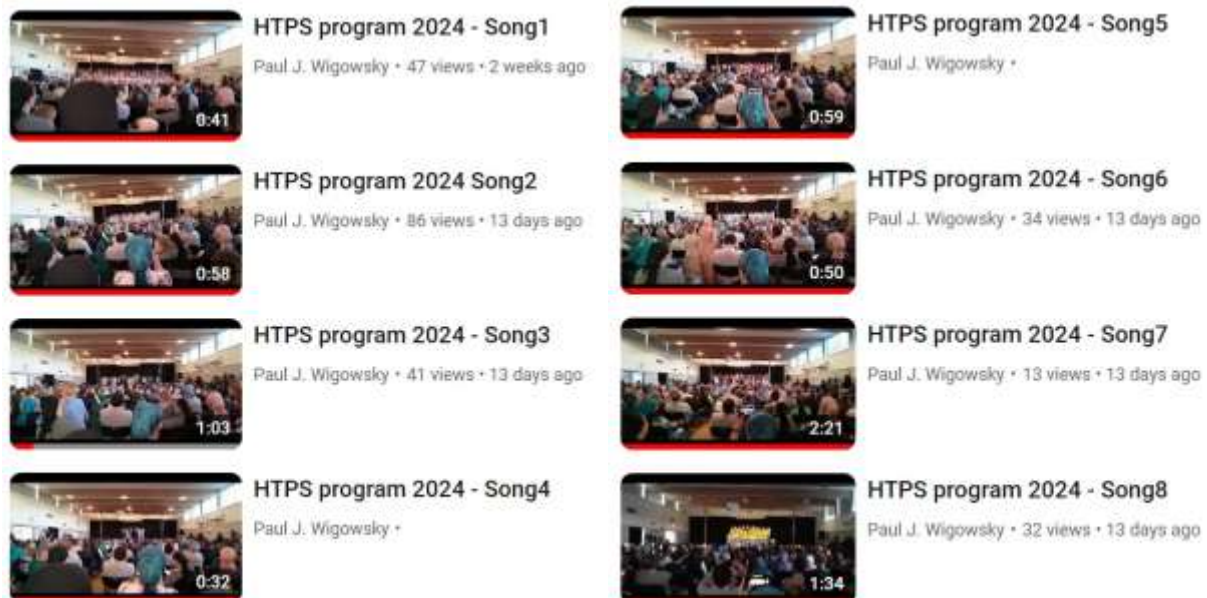

Paul J. Wigowsky (Павел И. Виговский)

Спаси Христос!

Finally, for those who wish to listen to the students sing and chant (mostly znamenny chants), here is a playlist of the videos I was able to take in order to highlight the spiritual aspirations of the students. They truly loved to sing those spiritual songs!
